

Since I am back at pokerstars, I decided to play some micro mtt's, mostly the 40k gtd 5$ RB/A that starts at night (in europe I mean).

I have been running very good I guess. Doing like 5 itm in 6 tournament. Yesterday I felt it wasn't going my way on the 5rb so I register for a 4.4$ 1k field capped, 2k gtd.. (pretty low yea..)

It was a 4 handed table, I gotta say this fit my donkey style way better than full ring.. really dislike fr..

I started running pretty good right at the beginning, no special luck , playing normally, maybe more aggro than others since I tripled my stack very quickly. I stayed in the top 5 for over 4 hours I guess and I was chip leader for a pretty long time; at a point I had over 100k more than the second in chip , with bb at 2k..

I had drunk too much scotch the night before and honestly I was getting really tired.. feeling bad and the top 50 took around 3 hours to blow.

I have been pretty lucky in the last part of the torney.. no doubt while one win a mtt. The stack also allowed me to play much more gamble vs shorts than I d be doing usually, and I got successful, finally

After we made a deal with top 3 I had around 950k , the cl 1.2KK and a crazy russian "crasher" 750K so I found myself with 440$; was pretty good deal since it could have taken age to be over, was really willing to go sleep.

So after that , I just donked out the 2 others guys pretty fast and that was it, my first serious mtt win !!
